

Job vacancy – Agriculture and Environment Manager

We currently seek an experienced Agriculture Manager to join our team:

Fertilizers Europe represents the interests of the European fertilizer industry. We are the source of information on fertilizers and the sector's voice in Europe. We deal with questions related to agriculture, environment, technology, safety, economy and trade, as well as supporting our members with statistics and other information.

We have a multi-cultural team of 13 staff members located in Brussels.

Your challenges:

- Manage and coordinate activities in areas of agriculture and environment
- Develop strategies and positions on relevant policies
- Communicate with EU-institutions and other stakeholders
- Drive and manage projects in relation to resource efficiency, environment, and good agricultural practice
- Follow scientific debate on fertilizers and nutrients
- Engage in activities involving the food-chain

Your key skills:

- University degree in agriculture, environment or related subject, preferably including economics.
- Minimum 7 years of relevant post-degree experience, of which 5 years working with relevant association, administration or sales and marketing within a company.
- Experience in public relation/lobbying
- Experience in managing international projects or networks.
- Knowledge of fertilizer sector and its contributions to agriculture a plus
- Fluency in spoken and written English a necessity, other major European languages like German, French, Polish and Spanish a plus

Your personality:

- Open and flexible - fitting into our multi-cultural office
- Ability to work independently and take initiatives, but also a team player
- Analytical and strategic skills
- Very good interpersonal relationship skills
- Good communication skills
- Ability to travel in the future

Fertilizers Europe offers:

- Broad and challenging responsibilities
- Possibility to work with motivated and professional team in a European environment
- Attractive remuneration and benefits, including group pension and hospitalization

Apply by e-mail, including motivation letter and CV to jenny.wahlman@fertilizerseurope.com.

Deadline for application: 24 December 2021 - Only short-listed candidates will be contacted.